Blue Hill attends CA's CIO Circle in Pinehurst, NC

Blue Hill Data Services' Chief Operating Officer was pleased to recently attend CA Technologies exclusive CIO Circle held in Pinehurst, NC, October 30-31, 2013.

The CIO Circle, an invitation-only event created specifically for top IT executives, was a great opportunity to interact with other CIOS and industry thought leaders, as well as discuss important business issues and share perspectives, best practices, and industry trends. It also included a roundtable discussion that was driven by the attendees.

John Michelsen, Chief Technology Officer, CA Technologies, gave an inspiring keynote speech, "Delivering Innovative, Cost-Effective, Business Services". He spoke about increasingly meeting the demands for innovative business services, while being challenged to drive greater value and transform existing technology from legacy data center to digital powerhouse – while maintaining data security, customer privacy and regulatory compliance. Johan De Geyter, Director Innovation, Across Technology, also gave a keynote address about the line between private life and corporate life blurring, giving rise to the "Bring Your Own Device" movement. In addition to these speeches were various business sessions and workshops that were both valuable and informative.

"Blue Hill has enjoyed a long standing relationship with CA Technologies, as well as a strong partnership which helps us jointly leverage our capabilities for our customers. We appreciate this relationship and are happy to participate with CA Technologies in helping to keep customers abreast of the latest trends in technology." John Lalli, Chief Operating Officer and Managing Director
